

The Ruth Sharp Altshuler Tocqueville Society recognizes donors with an unsurpassed dedication to the community. Named to honor longtime Dallas philanthropist Ruth Sharp Altshuler, the Tocqueville Society is composed of civic and business leaders whose vision for North Texas is matched only by their generosity. The Society's 900+ members each contribute $10,000 or more annually to bring hope, provide essential aid and shape the future of our region.

Tocqueville Society members enjoy:

- Invitations to lectures and special events, including the Second Tuesday luncheon series and Gratitude annual appreciation event
- Educational and networking opportunities with like-minded philanthropists
- Emails and other updates on United Way news throughout the year
- The Unite newsletter, featuring highlights from United Way's impact work and donor events
- A personal donor relations manager, who provides individual attention and is available to help guide your giving decisions
- Recognition in the annual Leaders in Giving book and other United Way publications
- Rewarding volunteer opportunities throughout the year
- Separate opportunities within the Women of Tocqueville Society
