

United Way Giving Societies

United Way of Metropolitan Dallas is a community-based non-profit organization that treats 360 degrees of need. For more than 90 years, we have brought people and resources together to provide innovative and effective solutions to complex social problems. We encourage North Texans to get involved by giving, volunteering and advocating to help those in need.

United Way of Metropolitan Dallas Giving Society members are committed to investing in the future of our community. Each Giving Society provides members with access to special events, exciting networking activities and rewarding volunteer opportunities. Memberships are based upon gifts made in a fiscal year* to United Way. Join other leaders dedicated to transforming our community to create a better tomorrow for everyone. There is a United Way Giving Society that's right for you.

Ruth Sharp Altshuler Tocqueville Society

The Ruth Sharp Altshuler Tocqueville Society recognizes donors with an unsurpassed dedication to the community. Named to honor a longtime Dallas philanthropist, the late Ruth Sharp Altshuler, the Tocqueville Society is composed of civic and business leaders whose vision for North Texas is matched only by their generosity. More than 950 Tocqueville Society members contribute $10 million annually to bring hope, provide essential aid and shape the future of our region. Individual members contribute at least $10,000* to United Way. (New donors can qualify for Tocqueville Society membership at reduced rates under the Fast Track giving option.)

The Aikman and Staubach Circle recognizes donors who lead long-term change in our community through their generous annual gifts of $25,000 or more to United Way.

Women of Tocqueville is an inclusive network of business and community leaders who bring their collective leadership abilities and financial resources to raise additional United Way funding in support of community priorities.

Bench & Bar provides special recognition for the Society's members of the legal community.
